Vanderbilt University Medical Center Critical Care ACNP/PA Bootcamp 2022

August 23-24, 2022 Nashville, TN

August 23 08:00-15:30

August 24 08:00-15:30

- Vanderbilt University Medical Center's critical care ACNP/PA bootcamp is a multispecialty critical care conference for practicing critical care nurse practitioners and physician assistants. Now in its eleventh year, this lecture-based course is designed to educate new providers with relevant evidence based clinical information; and challenge experienced providers with new research, updated best practice guidelines and thought-provoking discussions. The diverse conference faculty includes physicians, nurse practitioners, and physician assistants who are leaders in their disciplines from across the country. This year's topics include (but are not limited to)
 - Top Papers in Critical Care Medicine
 - Interpretive Approach to Chest X-Rays
 - Mechanical Ventilation: Modes and Trouble Shooting
 - Management of Advanced Left Heart Failure
 - Critical Care Management of Acute Ischemic Stroke
 - Evaluation and Treatment of Oncological Emergencies
 - Acute Drug Intoxication Overdose
 - Acute Abdominal Catastrophes
 - Treatment Withdrawal and End of Life Care
 - Challenging Critical Care Cases
 - Resuscitation in Hemorrhagic Shock
 - Antibiotics: Appropriate Use and Common Errors

The conference will be available live (in person) and on-demand, and provide attendees with valuable knowledge that will elevate both individual clinical practice and team evidence-based practice guidelines. All course presentations will be available online to learners for 6 months to watch and review at their convenience.

A complimentary networking event and wine reception will take place on August 23 from 15:30-17:00

August 22 and 25, Critical Care Ultrasound Course Nashville, TN

August 22 08:00-16:00

August 25 08:00-16:00

In addition to the two-day lecture-based conference, an optional hands-on ultrasound training is also available. The ultrasound training course provides novice providers with instruction on using ultrasound as a diagnostic tool in the ICU. Learners will have the opportunity to practice cardiac, lung, and abdominal ultrasound on live models. To enhance personalized and focused instruction for the learners, space for the ultrasound course is limited.
