Neuroanesthesiology Fellowship Applications Live

We are pleased to announce the Vanderbilt Neuroanesthesiology fellowship started in July 2019. This is a one-year fellowship focused on providing extensive academic, educational and research opportunities to prepare the fellow for an academic career or leadership in a non-academic practice. One position is available each year. There is a national need for specialty trained neuroanesthesiologists, and the future is bright for those who add additional knowledge and skills to their anesthesia education.

Ultrasound Probes

Butterfly IQ handheld ultrasound probes and other handheld ultrasound probes are currently not approved for use in the hospital. VUMC will not cover any liability incurred from use of these devices at the present time. Please refrain from using them on patients, including for teaching, diagnostic or procedural purposes.

We are working to get the Butterfly IQ handheld ultrasound probes approved for use at VUMC. Once these are fully approved and integrated into the VUMC system via the appropriate process, we will let you know.

Employee Recognition: GEMs (Going the Extra Mile)

We want to recognize good work when we see it and encourage our colleagues to recommend our next GEM. Do you know someone who has made your day brighter or easier? Someone who has gone above and beyond? Please let us know the details so that we can recognize that person for a job well done.

Anonymous would like to recognize Kristi Yunker : She always helps with fellowships in other divisions when someone has questions.

Vik Bansal, MD, would like to recognize Anesthesia Technician John Poland: I just wanted to recognize John for working at Vanderbilt for nine years. He has been an exceptional colleague and friend since I have known him. He goes above and beyond to provide excellent patient care. He knows how to make a colleague laugh on a difficult day. While he will be missed tremendously by the Vanderbilt community, I am happy about his decision to pursue a new career, and I have no doubt that he will continue to excel. Best of luck John!

On Wednesday, July 17, an upgrade for the VUMC employee wireless network will occur (which will require reconnection for any employee who has a personal device connected to the VUMC Employee network). Click here for more information.
