Jennifer Jayaram would like to recognize the Acute Pain & Perioperative APP team: "The team of APPs on our Acute Pain and Perioperative Services have, without hesitation, jumped in and answered an institutional request for assistance with pain education for our Nurse Residents. This day long session helps our new nursing colleagues understand pain treatment modalities and best practices in pain management as they begin their careers at VUMC. Thank you to our great team of experts for helping to continue our work beyond excellent patient care into the CLINICAL INFORMATION Radiology Image Viewing Software Update With the finalization of the rollout of Sectra on Sunday, Oct. 25, users across the Medical Center will have new tools to view study images. Sectra UniView (its "light" client) will replace XERO Viewer and VueMotion (VWCH). Sectra IDS7 (its "thick" client) will replace IMPAX. Radiologists and some other targeted users of IMPAX will receive inperson training from Sectra to use IDS7. Clinicians who access images directly from the patient's chart in eStar may continue to do so -- UniView will automatically display the image from the hyperlink. An optional UniView eLearning is currently available in the Learning Exchange: PACS Online: Online Enterprise PACS Web Viewer. For those clinicians who do not receive in-person Sectra training but anticipate using the thick client (IDS7) of Sectra, an eLearning is available in the Learning Exchange: PACS Online: Radiant Sectra IDS7.
