

Help us find hope for people living with Alzheimer's

A new Alzheimer's research study is enrolling participants

The ONO-2020-02 Study is looking at an investigational drug for people with mild to moderate Alzheimer's disease.

The study aims to see how safe the investigational drug is and if it might help people who are living with Alzheimer's disease with their symptoms.

You may be able to take part if you:

- are 55–85 years of age,
- have mild to moderate Alzheimer's, and
- have a care partner who also agrees to take part. This care partner will attend study visits with you.
