What is Capital?

- Capital equipment is equipment that: 1) is durable (economic useful life greater than one year); and 2) has a cost of ≥$5,000 per unit (cost includes equipment, installation & shipping/freight).

  (This applies to a single item or a system)

- Expensed equipment is equipment that is not durable (economic useful life of one year or less) or has a unit cost <$5,000 (cost includes equipment, installation & shipping/freight).

  (May be referred to as Expensed, Non-Capital, or Operational)

Laptops and Desktops (SC405) Spend Category

For laptop and desktop purchases with a total quote/rec amount <$5k
- This will be expensed and can be requisitioned under any req type (punchout is ok this way)
- There will no longer be a notification for you to fill out a capital requisition for these if the total amount stays under $5k

For laptop and desktop purchases with a total quote/rec amount >$5k
- This will require a capital requisition, a project ID (PJ), a quote attached even if it’s a punchout (it can be an eQuote), and a capital planning tool number in the memo field.
- Those over $5k must flow through the capital planning tool to be recognized by leadership. This is the same process when requesting capital equipment.

Grant vs Gift: Reminders and Clarifications

Accounting for grants and gifts are very similar and largely the same. For both, spend incurred (capital asset purchases and expenses) generates F&A and recognizes revenue. There are slight differences in how and when F&A is charged and revenue is recognized between grants and gifts.

F&A and Revenue Recognition on Grant ID

- Created via Award Costs Processing
- Timing: processed at business process completion; F&A is only assessed when allowable by the Sponsor.

F&A and Revenue Recognition on Gift ID

- Created via Allocations
- Timing: currently processed during month end close. Intent is to eventually process weekly.
