

Underground Passage to Vanderbilt University Hospital

Go to the First Floor and turn right as you step off the elevator.

Turn left at the end of the hall. There may be beds stored there.

The hall will turn to the right and you will go down a slope and then the hall will turn left.

You will then walk up a long creepy hallway which has an upwards slope at the end. Turn left at the top of the slope.

At the end of this hallway turn right. (Don't use the elevators on this hall unless you want to go on a great and long adventure.)

Follow this hallway until you reach the first hallway on the left and turn left. (There are signs hanging from the ceiling that say Lobby.)

You will see the Main Hospital Service elevators at the end of the hall. Service elevators are for equipment and patient transport.

If you go around the elevators, you will find: visitor elevators, the main entrance, and a large waiting area.

If you turn hard right instead of going around to the Lobby, you will see a long hallway. If you follow it all the way to the end, you will arrive at The Vanderbilt Clinic (TVC) pharmacy.

Also, if you go up to the second floor and take the long hallway it will lead to the cafeteria.
