

DIVERSITY, EQUITY & INCLUSION WEEK

2021 SPEAKER BIO

Darin Latimore, MD

Associate Professor of Internal Medicine
Dean's Designee, Office of the President
Deputy Dean and Chief Diversity Officer and Title IX
Deputy Coordinator, Office of the Dean, School of Medicine
Yale University

Darin Latimore, MD, is Yale School of Medicine's first Deputy Dean for Diversity and Inclusion, and its first Chief Diversity Officer. He is devoted to increasing diversity within medical and academic spaces, and to improving the climate of Yale School of Medicine's (YSM) learning and working environments. He is responsible for developing and implementing a comprehensive strategic plan for furthering diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) at the school, which includes a focus on recruitment and retention of faculty and students from backgrounds that have been historically underrepresented in science and medicine.

In his role, Dr. Latimore has implemented a comprehensive program to improve faculty diversity and retention that focuses on policies, programs and building community. He also oversees programs that support the outreach, recruitment, success and retention of YSM students and postdoctoral fellows. He is co-chair of the YSM Program for Art in Public Spaces, which has commissioned new works of art featuring diverse YSM leaders, and has hosted public exhibits that feature artwork by, and about, members of the YSM community.

Dr. Latimore joined Yale in 2017 from the University of California, Davis, (UC Davis) School of Medicine, where he was Associate Dean for Student and Resident Diversity. After obtaining his medical degree at UC Davis, School of Medicine, and completing his residency in internal medicine at the UC Davis Medical Center, he worked as a physician specializing in HIV care with The Permanente Medical Group in south Sacramento, Calif., where he also trained medical students and residents. His transition to academic medicine began with his appointment as Associate Program Director for the UC Davis Internal Medicine Residency Program, followed by his appointment as the inaugural Director of Medical Student Diversity at UC Davis in 2008.

Dr. Latimore will present at the following 2021 Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Week event:

- "Microaggressions: How Do They Impact the Academic Environment for Health Professional Trainees"
Monday, July 19 (Noon to 1 p.m., Zoom)
